

Introducing a swarm system for

Accessibility AI Audit

by tiny_toes

Shared vocabulary

1. Accessibility

Making a website usable for as many people as possible, including people with disabilities.

2. Agent Swarm

Is a group of AI specialists working together on one task. Each has access to system tools and could communicate with others.

What does it do?

AAA scans a website, find accessibility problems, continuously improves the page, and gives a report.

Hmmm... example?

Before (BAD)

The 'Before' screenshot shows a website with a blue background. At the top left is a logo of a person in a hard hat. To its right is the text 'Pacific Northwest X-Ray Inc.' in green and 'Simply the best!' in red. Below this is a search bar with the text 'Search for X-Ray Products.' to its left. A grey arrow points from the text to the search bar. The search bar has a 'Go!' button. Below the search bar is the text '...Or select from some of our most popular...'. Underneath are two columns of product links, each preceded by a small icon of a person in a hard hat. The products listed are: Fastest Shipping Lead Apparel, Most Comfortable Aprons, Surgical Radiation Reducing Gloves, Line-Pair Resolution Test Phantoms, Lead Glass, System Test Phantoms, Lead Curtains, Resolution Test Tools/Phantoms, X-Ray Merchant Boards, ACR accredited Medium MRI Phantom, Small Animal Immobilizers, Mobile Lead Barriers, X-Ray Table Pads, Silver Recovery Systems, and X-Ray Grids. After (GOOD)

The 'After' screenshot shows the same website but with a dark blue background. The logo and company name are still at the top. The search bar now has a yellow 'Go!' button. The product links are now underlined. The company name at the bottom is in a smaller font, and the address and phone number are in a smaller font. The disclaimer and copyright notice are also in a smaller font.

*Increased HTML semantics for screen reader

Who is it for?

AAA is for anyone who cares about accessible design and inclusivity, from a simple personal, vibe-coded webpage to big corporation frontpage.

Any website should be designed with accessibility in mind not only because the EU says so but also it could greatly improve other people's life!

<https://eur-lex.europa.eu/eli/dir/2019/882/oj/eng>

Does it make any website perfectly accessible?

No, but

(1) it saves a lot of developer's time to redesign and finding violations and

(2) it is dirt cheap to run compared to other audit services

* using open source AI models, each run cost less than €1.00.

How does it work?
